1.	Service actions performed by police officers and the application of the principle of appropriateness from the perspective of criminal and administrative law. – research project supported by Slovak Research and Development Agency under contract no. APVV-17-0217 – a member of the research collective. The research is aimed at the careful inspection of service actions performed by police officers by means of coercive measures, entitled competencies, and obligations, while the emphasis is put on respecting the legal principle of appropriateness. This principle has been analyzed from three perspectives: constitutional law, administrative law, and criminal law. We focus on setting the boundaries and establishing a level of legitimacy of a police officer's intervention into the fundamental rights and freedoms of a person against whom an intervention has been done. The results obtained through critical legal analysis of relevant legislative and internal acts, decisions by public authorities, scholarly and professional literature will bring in highly qualified conclusions and instructions for the application practice. They will precisely define how to execute a service action so that it is in line with the law and thus basic postulates of a democratic state and rule of law are met. A partial application output will be the implementation of a training session "Police Proficiency Week" for police officers and the creation of an information module through the intranet site of the Ministry of Interior of the Slovak Republic, which will be continuously available to police officers. The most significant outputs: ACC MARKOVÁ, Veronika - JANKO, Sebastián Criminal law aspects of the police law : 5th chapter / auth.
