

Security and Legal Protection of Persons and Property

BACHELOR'S STUDY PROGRAMME

Name of the study programme: Security and Legal Protection of Persons and Property

Field of study: 9205R00 Safety and security sciences

Degree of study: 1st

Form of study: full-time / part-time

Standard duration of study: 3 / 4 academic years

Number of credits to graduate: 180 credits

Academic degree awarded upon completion of the study: Bachelor (Bc.) Guarantor of the study programme:

Prof. Ing. Jozef STIERANKA, PhD.

Co-guarantors of the study programme:

Col. Prof. JUDr. Mgr. Jana VIKTORYOVÁ, PhD.

doc. JUDr. Boris LÖFFLER, PhD.

Description of the graduate's profile

General characteristics

The graduate in the study programme:

- can analyse problems occurring in various areas which are connected with the security and legal protection of persons and property, suggest and implement measures to fulfil the tasks performed by a given organization unit whose aim is to provide the security protection of persons and property.
- acquires theoretical knowledge and practical skills necessary for practising the professions in the field of state and non-state security services.
- is able to individually perform specialized security activities in the field of the protection of persons and property as well as functions of junior management. The graduate meets the professional qualification requirements imposed in accordance with the laws of the Slovak Republic and the European Vocational Qualifications for Basic Guarding.
- can perform and manage activities in the system of state and non-state security services in the field of the protection of persons and property by applying given legal regulations. The graduate gains knowledge concerning the theory, interpretation and application of law, the system and organization of activities connected with providing the protection of persons and property within individual security-ensuring units.

The graduate has such theoretical knowledge that he/she is capable of continuing his/her university studies for a Master's degree.

Theoretical knowledge

The graduate in the study programme:

- acquires and understands essential terms, principles and theories connected with the legal and security aspects of the protection of persons and property,
- acquires knowledge which is necessary for understanding the structure of the system of security services and functional links existing in it,
- acquires knowledge of methodical procedures which are necessary to follow when the legal and security protection of persons and property is being provided
- acquires knowledge of the basics of European law and international conventions on human rights,
- acquires theoretical knowledge which makes it possible for him/her to select optimal procedures and working methods while performing specialized tasks in the field of the security protection of persons and property and fulfilling basic managerial functions within the structure of security services.

Practical skills and abilities

The graduate in the study programme acquires the ability:

- to apply law when creating and implementing the system of the protection of persons and property,
- to specify, suggest and implement concrete methods of the security protection of persons and property,
- to effectively perform specialized tasks in the system of the protection of persons and property, run working teams and ensure the cooperation with subjects participating in the security protection of persons and property,
- to consider the efficiency of security-related activities in individual parts of the system of the security protection of persons and property, remedy imperfections and, when necessary, suggest changes of the methods and in the system.

Additional knowledge, abilities and skills

The graduate in the study programme can:

- communicate and cooperate with state and non-state institutions as well as natural persons when solving legal and organization problems in the area of the security protection of persons and property,
- identify psychological and social factors which have an impact on concrete procedures when solving problems in the area of the security protection of persons and property,
- effectively gather, organize, analyse and use information necessary for the performance of professional activities, using modern information technologies,
- show special psychological and physical readiness while solving potential crisis situations in the area of the security protection of persons and property,
- use a world language, 3,500 up to 4,000 lexical units and grammatical phenomena necessary for everyday communication concerning general as well as basic practical professional topics,
- effectively broaden his/her knowledge in the field of his/her study and stimulate his/her further professional development.

Prospects of the graduate

Graduates can hold positions of: security officers – specialist within state-governed as well as privately-owned security services and organizations which perform specialized security-related activities connected with the protection of persons and property; members of the junior management staff in the bodies of the Slovak Police and in security services.